Jou Nouvo provides access to education for families in Bon-Repos, Haiti. Through education, we enrich the community and break the cycle of poverty.

Over a decade ago, Kerline Tofuri founded Jou Nouvo to help the people of Bon-Repos, her community of origin. With Kerline's roots and connections, we are well positioned to make a meaningful difference in this community.

Through literacy, education, and business development, we provide hope. Children finally see a sight-line from early education to higher learning to better employment opportunities.

We are dependent on donations to fund our programs. We invite you to help us provide hope to so many.
